Foreword

It is to be understood in reading this report that nearly all the officers included in it, except regulars, save a very few who could not be reached in order to find out their status, have been demobilized at the present time, and that they are members of the Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution.

The records of each officer and civilian, after careful scrutiny by the Committee, have been briefly selected from such information as was furnished by the members in question at the request of the Secretary of the Society. In certain of these records, however, the official data that was laid before us appeared unnecessarily voluminous, and therefore seemed to require curtailment in the judgment of those in charge of the work, which was accordingly made. In other cases the furnished information has proven altogether too fragmentary, particularly in the miscellaneous division, thus leaving in the opinion of the Committee an unsatisfactory chronicle of patriotic duty.

This report is divided into three parts, viz:—

1. Army.
2. Navy and Marine Corps.
3. Miscellaneous. (Civilian.)

It covers only the period from April, 1917, to December, 1919, and is submitted to the Society with the hope that it will prove a reliable and accurate record, so far as the Committee have been able to make it, of our members' devotion to their country in the World War. It has been in preparation since April last and is we believe fully brought up to date. Nevertheless a report of errors or omissions, for a future edition, will be appreciated by the Committee.

Submitted by COMMITTEE,

Clement Biddle
Commander, Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, retired.

Wm. Innes Forbes
Late Major, 309th Cavalry, U. S. A.

Joseph Allison Steinmetz
Major, U. S. Ordnance Reserve.

Oliver Hopkinson Baird
Secretary of Committee.

Philadelphia, January, 1920.

ARMY

MEDAL OF HONOR: This, the highest decoration awarded by our Government, can be given to any officer or enlisted man who shall "in action involving actual conflict with an enemy distinguish himself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity, at the risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty." It was authorized by Act of Congress in 1861 and is presented "in the name of Congress;" hence the frequent allusion to it as the Congressional Medal of Honor.

It is of metal, bearing the head of Minerva, the Goddess of War, underneath the word Valor, and below rests an eagle, to which is attached a blue ribbon with thirteen stars.

The Medal of Honor, like the Victoria Cross (British), is jealously guarded and rarely bestowed. It is the highest honor that can be given for valor.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS: This decoration was instituted by Executive Order in January, 1918, and confirmed by Congress in the following July. It is awarded for individual acts of extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy not warranting the award of a Medal of Honor. More than 5000 have already been awarded.

It consists of an eagle upon a cross, both of metal, suspended from a blue ribbon with a red and white margin.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL: Established by Executive Order in January, 1918, and confirmed by Congress in the following July. It is awarded for specially meritorious services in a position of great responsibility. About 600 so far have been awarded.

It consists of a round metal disk engraved "For Distinguished Service," suspended from a red, blue and white ribbon.

NAVY

THE NEW MEDAL OF HONOR: This is awarded for an act of gallantry or valor akin to that of the Army decoration of similar name. It is a cross of solid gold, each arm of the cross having an anchor, and in the center is engraved "United States Navy"—all suspended from a blue ribbon with thirteen stars, above which is a bar inscribed "Valour."

THE NEW NAVY CROSS: This is a personal decoration established by Congress in February, 1919, and can be awarded to anyone in the Naval service who distinguishes himself by extraordinary heroism or other distinguished service not justifying the award of the Medal of Honor or the Distinguished Service Medal, or necessarily involving conflict with the enemy. Prior to the World War about 750 of these medals had been awarded.

It is made up of a metal cross, in the center of which are two anchors and "U. S. N.," suspended by a blue ribbon having a central white vertical band.

*For further information and illustrations, see the Nat. Geo. Magazine, December, 1919.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL: This is a decoration that can be given to anyone serving with the Navy "who shall distinguish himself by specially meritorious services in a duty of great responsibility." It was established by Congress in February, 1919.

It is composed of a round metal disk, upon which is engraved an anchor under the words "Distinguished Service," above is 1917-1918, and an eagle suspended by a blue and yellow ribbon.

The American military or naval decorations are not hereditary.

BRITISH

COMPANION ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE (C. M. G.): Founded in commemoration of the date when the Ionian Islands were placed under the protection of Great Britain by George IV in 1818. It is bestowed for naval, military and civilian service to the Crown.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER (D. S. O.): Established by Queen Victoria in 1886 to be awarded for special service to commissioned officers of the Army and Navy, "rendering good service to the Crown in relation to the Foreign Affairs of the British Empire."

FRENCH

LEGION OF HONOR (Légion d'Honneur) was instituted by Napoleon in 1802. It is not exclusively a military order, being awarded quite as often for artistic or literary accomplishments, or even industrial achievements. Its award is not restricted to French subjects.

CROSS OF WAR (Croix de Guerre) is a new order created at the beginning of the war for bestowal in the Army and Navy.

BELGIUM

MILITARY CROSS OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD: This order, bestowed for distinguished civil service to the Crown and military valor in the field, was founded in 1832 by Leopold I. It is a white enamelled Maltese cross of four double rays, the points terminating in silver balls. The military decoration is distinguished by crossed swords.

CROSS OF WAR (Croix de Guerre): This is a decoration instituted at the beginning of the World War and is somewhat like the French medal of similar name. It is a military order exclusively, being awarded chiefly for gallantry in the field.

The insignia is a bronze medal hanging from a red ribbon with green stripes.

ITALIAN

ORDER OF THE CROWN OF ITALY: This order was instituted in 1868 by Victor Emanuel II. It was designed "in honor of military men and given as a reward for signal merit and direct interest in the nation." It is for Italians and foreigners.

ORDER OF SAN MAURIZIO e LAZARO (Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus): An ancient and illustrious order, bestowed for "the reward of civil and military services, liberal actions and personal devotion to the Sovereign."

CITATION is the enumeration or recital of an heroic act, and is usually set forth in writing.

PALM: Any token or symbol of superiority, success, triumph or victory, attachable to a medal.
